RONDO 2x2.5 - a versatile cable

Supra Rondo is a series of highly flexible, tin-plated, twisted cables suitable for a wide range of applications.

Supra Rondo with two leads takes one step further from the regular speaker cable design. By twisting the leads with short pitch, it will benefit from a lowered inductance and therefore benefit from a quicker transient response in the music. In addition, the design with multi-strand leads and tin plating add the anti-corrosive properties and reduce the phase-shifting diode-like electron jumps between the strands. This results in very all-round properties making this cable suitable for a wide range of applications. The production method we use allows us to twin with short pitch and still keep it resilient, persistent to handling fatigue, making it especially useful on-stage. Want to take another step up from conventional speaker cable design? Rondo with two or four leads is an audible leap forward.
