Sword 2x3.0 Jumper cable

The base of Supra Sword's superior performance is the bifilar-wound litz conductors comprising 24 individually insulated strands per pole, 12 wound in one direction, the remaining 12 in the opposite, resulting in magnetic field cancellation and very low inductance. Further, the litz wound and individually insulated strands cancels the dynamic skin-effect. The Sword behaves as a non-inductive and in-phase cable through the entire audible frequency spectra. The only thing not cancelled is the sound, allowing you to hear every little note of the music, at full dynamics. Sword will maintain the true signal put out from your Hi-Fi system, giving a completely transparent transition from amplifier to speaker. You will hear the music, nothing more, nothing less.

The Sword jumper version is supplied with crimp style solid Copper permanent forks, which do not replace with any CombiCon optional connector. The spades and wire are crimped together under at high pressure, making a perfect, air tight, joint. The spades are insulated with Combicon sleeves.
