

06

8. SUPRA HDMI | £45/m

You're desperate to upgrade your home cinema system to a fancy digital HDMI set-up, but are worried that once you have done so, none of your friends will notice. Fear not: you can wax lyrical about the quality of your lovely new HDMI cables, especially if you buy this excellent Supra. Plug it between your cutting-edge DVD player and high-definition display and people will swoon at the quality of your DVD images. Anyone used to watching a no-brand £30 Chinese DVD player will be filled with a raging jealousy.

01622 664 070

www.supracables.co.uk

Robert Follis Associates - Home Cinema - Jan 2005